By providing this notice, RPL does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Maine law, the applicability of the Maine data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

On August 12, 2024, RPL identified suspicious activity on its network and moved quickly to secure its environment. RPL immediately initiated an investigation with the assistance of third-party forensic specialists to determine the nature and scope of the activity. Through the investigation, RPL determined that there was unauthorized access to its network between August 11 and August 12, 2024. While on the network, the unauthorized actor acquired certain information stored therein. Therefore, RPL undertook a comprehensive review of the data at risk to determine what information was at issue and to whom the information related. On December 10, 2024, RPL completed a thorough review of the impacted data and determined that the information accessible may have included personal information related to individuals. The information that could have been subject to unauthorized access includes name and Social Security number or individual taxpayer identification number.

Notice to Maine Residents

On February 12, 2025, RPL provided written notice of this incident to four (4) Maine residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A. RPL also posted notice of the event on the homepage of its website on February 12th. A copy of which is attached here as Exhibit B.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon discovering the event, RPL moved quickly to investigate, assess the security of its systems, and identify potentially affected individuals. Further, RPL notified federal law enforcement regarding the event and implemented additional security measures. RPL is providing individuals whose personal information was potentially affected by this incident with access to credit monitoring services for twelve (12) months through Experian at no cost to the individuals.

Additionally, RPL is providing impacted individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud. RPL is providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one's credit file, information on protecting against tax fraud, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, a reminder to remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing account statements and monitoring free credit reports, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

RPL is providing written notice of this incident to state regulators, as necessary, and to the three major credit reporting agencies: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Additional Information

Consumers may further educate themselves regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps they can take to protect your personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or their state Attorney General. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. Consumers can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. Consumers have the right to file a police report if they ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, consumers will likely need to provide some proof that they have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and the relevant state Attorney General. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.

For District of Columbia residents, the District of Columbia Attorney General may be contacted at: 400 6th Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20001; (202) 442-9828; and oag.dc.gov.

For New Mexico residents, consumers have rights pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act, such as the right to be told if information in their credit file has been used against them, the right to know what is in their credit file, the right to ask for their credit score, and the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. Further, pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the consumer reporting bureaus must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information; consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information; access to consumers' files is limited; consumers must give consent for credit reports to be provided to employers; consumers may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance based on information in their credit report; and consumers may seek damages from violators. Consumers may have additional rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act not summarized here. Identity theft victims and active-duty military personnel have specific additional rights pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act. We encourage consumers to review their rights pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act by visiting www.consumerfinance.gov/f/201504_cfpb_summary_your-rights-under-fcra.pdf, or by writing Consumer Response Center, Room 130-A, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20580.

Notice of Data Security Event

Riley Pope & Laney, LLC (“RPL”) recently discovered an incident that impacted the privacy of certain information in its possession. This notice provides an overview of the incident, our response, and steps individuals may take to better protect themselves should you wish to do so.

WHAT HAPPENED? On August 11, 2024, RPL identified suspicious activity on its network and moved quickly to secure its environment. RPL immediately initiated an investigation with the assistance of third-party forensic specialists to determine the nature and scope of the activity. Through the investigation, we determined that there was unauthorized access to our network between August 11 and August 12, 2024. While on the network, the unauthorized actor acquired certain information stored therein. Therefore, RPL undertook a comprehensive review of the data at risk to determine what information was at issue and to whom the information related. On December 10, 2024, we completed this review and determined what individuals and data could be affected.

WHAT INFORMATION WAS INVOLVED? The information potentially at risk varies by individual, but may include: name, address, date of birth, Social Security number, driver’s license number, financial account information, health insurance information, and medical information.

WHAT IS RPL DOING? Upon discovering the incident, we took immediate steps to secure our network and strengthen our security posture moving forward. We also reported to incident to law enforcement.

Additionally, RPL is mailing notice letters to potentially affected individuals for whom we have address information beginning on or about February 12, 2025. If you believe you could have been affected but have not received a notice letter, you may call the phone number below.

WHAT CAN I DO? You can review the below Steps You Can Take to Protect Your Personal Information which contains guidance regarding what you can do to better protect against possible misuse of your information. We also encourage individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing their account statements and monitoring their free credit reports for suspicious activity

FOR MORE INFORMATION. We understand individuals may have questions that are not addressed in this notice. Should individuals have questions regarding this event, they may call a dedicated assistance line at 833-918-0981. This toll-free line is available Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Eastern Time. Individuals may also write to RPL at P.O. Box 11412, Columbia, SC 29201.
